A Home for the Arts in Beaverton

Beaverton has long been a city that values and fosters the arts through events, public art, and opportunities for artists. As the area's population continues to grow, the community's lack of a dedicated arts venue becomes more apparent. The Beaverton Community Vision called for dedicated space for arts and culture. The Center will serve the region's population and will attract visitors from outside the area to experience art, culture, events, and business functions in downtown Beaverton.

Center Components

-  Multi-Purpose Theatre with 450 seats

-  Classrooms for Art and Dance
-  Outdoor Arts Plaza for Festivals and Events
-  Roof Terrace for Outdoor Films and Receptions
-  Meeting and Conference Space
-  Art Gallery
-  Café

How Will the Center be Funded?

The Beaverton Center for the Arts (BCA) is estimated to be a $46.5 million dollar project, funded using public and private contributions.

Lead Donor (pledged)	$13,000,000
Other Private Donations	$11,100,000
City Revenue Bond (TLT)	$15,000,000
City Land Donation	$600,000
Beaverton Urban Redevelopment Agency (Parking)	$6,800,000
Total	$46,500,000

The Center for the Arts will not result in an increase in taxes to Beaverton residents. The public portion of this project's construction and ongoing operations will be funded through Transient Lodging Taxes (TLT). TLT is an overnight lodging tax on hotels, motels, and other accommodations within city limits paid for by visitors to the area.
